News Snapshots Of the Week

Following the exposure of the plan of Dr. Dumba, Austrian ambassador to the United States, to cripple American factories by withdrawing foreign labor, we asked his government to recall him. The recall of Captain von Pappen of the German embassy was also expected, when it was announced he had gone on a vacation to Yellowstone park. Secretary Daniels gave out twenty-two names selected for the naval advisory board, including Hudson Maxim and Peter Cooper Hewitt. Zepplins raided the heart of London. Twenty were killed and many injured. Count von Bernstorff gave the state department assurances, backed by his government, that the Arable case would be settled to our satisfaction. Six financial experts from England and France, headed by Lord Chief Justice Reading of Great Britain, conferred with J. Pierpont Morgan and other bankers about $1,000,000,000 loan. A fire on Sant Anna in midocean endangered lives of Italian reservists.

June Eddings, a young white man, at Fulton, seriously cut Phillip Douglas, a negro, Sunday during an altercation. He used, it is said, a knife or razor and came near severing the negro's jugular vein and also slashed him on the side of the head. The negro was carried to the office of Dr. Henry T. Alexander on Lake street where the wounds were dressed. He received one or two ugly wounds, not necessarily fatal. Eddings was arrested and jailed. He waived examination and was bound over to circuit court under a bond of $200.

NEW METHOD BEING TAUGHT

Cincinnati Schools Equipped With Bathing Pools Are Teaching Swimming With a Circular Trolley.

Cincinnati.—A new system of teaching boys and girls how to swim, instituted in certain Cincinnati schools equipped with bathing pools, is thus described by the Scientific American: An apparatus is employed consisting of an oval track secured to the ceiling over the pool. A dozen trolleys run on the track, and from each depends a rope with a belt attached. Twelve pupils fasten the belts around their waists and the swimming lesson is on.

They go through the motions of "salvor fashion" and the "Australian crawl" as per the direction of the swimming instructor, who keeps watch from around the edge of the pool. They cannot sink, so the only thing remaining for them to do is to swim.

Cincinnati Swimming Trolley.

This "water merry-go-round" has proved so successful that others like it are to be installed in schools where a bathing pool is a part of the equipment.

WINS BATTLE WITH SEA BAT

Fourteen Feet Across the Back. It Towed a Gasoline Launch for Six Hours.

Mobile, Ala.—A great sea bat weighing more than a ton was captured in Mobile bay by Thomas C. Cairns of Birmingham after an all-day battle, and 25 men hauled it out at Hayou la Hatre. It had towed a powerful gasoline launch for six hours.

The fish was 14 feet across the back and ten feet six inches from the mouth to the beginning of the tail. Though it was not weighed, old fishermen believe that it is the largest specimen ever landed in the Gulf of Mexico. The other one caught near Mobile weighed 2,500 pounds, it is said. This was 50 years ago.

Mr. Cairns says that the fish was sighted off Dauphin Island in the early morning. The launch was driven alongside and a harpoon thrown into the fish. The harpoon was attached to 600 feet of one-quarter inch snash cord. The fish towed the 18-foot launch occupied by Mr. Cairns and the boatman, developing a high rate of speed. Several times when the fish would come to the surface Mr. Cairns would fire at it with a 38-caliber revolver, but with apparently no effect.

Finally, late in the afternoon, the fish was tired out and towed alongside the tug Laura. Next morning the Laura towed the launch and the devil fish into Hayou la Hatre. Mr. Cairns says the harpoon lines were put over the stern of the launch and the engine run ahead for six hours in an effort to tire out the monster.

When Hayou la Hatre was reached it required 25 men to haul the monster up on the beach. No scales large enough to weigh the fish were available at Hayou la Hatre, but old fishermen guessed the weight of the monster, sometimes called a sea bat, at more than 2,000 pounds.

SLAYS MANY WILD ANIMALS

In Six Months Oregon Hunter Has Killed Panthers, Wildcats and Five Bears.

Port Oxford, Ore.—Within six months E. L. White of this place has proved himself a successful hunter of predatory animals, and his dogs have freed and he has killed five bears, five panthers, and a goodly number of wildcats.

He recently spent several days up on Sixes river, and killed a female panther that had destroyed many sheep and deer in that locality. She had often been run with dogs and had learned to elude them by springing from tree to tree and from stump to log, then dodging and rounding in a different direction.

Before the big cat was killed several photographs were taken as it was snarling and showing its teeth at the hunters.

Man Killed Playing Leapfrog.
New York.—Robert Flusky, a carpenter, who stopped to play leapfrog with several boys, fell on his face and was killed by a truck.

GUNNELS KILLS MURRAY NEAR BESSIE, TENN.

At Cook's commissary, two miles south of Bessie, Rube Gunnels, age about 24, clerk in the commissary, shot and killed Jim Murray, about 40, who had been employed on the government quarter boat as pump man. The shooting happened about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. As Gunnels told the story, Murray had purchased two pairs of shoes and had only paid for one pair at the time of the purchase several days ago. Later Murray lost his job, possibly quit himself. When Mr. Cook heard of Murray quitting work and the boss paying him off, Cook told Gunnels his clerk, to collect for the other pair of SECTION 157—A.

Some months ago, Daviess county voted on a bond issue of $600,000 for roads. Some 8,000 votes were cast. The majority in favor of the bonds fell 175 short of two thirds of the total vote cast. Following precedent, it was held that, under section 157 of the constitution, the issue was lost. The advocates of good roads in Daviess have decided, and decided rightly, to put the question up to the courts for final determination.

The vote on a bond issue was taken, not under section 157, but under section 157 A, the constitutional amendment adopted in 1902 authorizing the voting of bond issues to build roads. Under that

MISS BETTIE DODDS DIED TUESDAY.

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of Miss Bettie Dodds, which occurred Tuesday afternoon at the Glickner Sanatorium in Colorado Springs, Colo. Miss Bettie had been in bad health for a year or more and it was in the hope of receiving relief that she and her sister, Miss Althea, went to Colorado Springs this summer. About a week ago an operation was performed and according to reports from her bedside, seemed to be improving, and the message telling of her death was a shock to her many friends. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but probably some time tomorrow, as

THE CRYSTAL THEATRE

WILL YEAR OF 1916 BE SUMMERLESS.

Some of our contemporaries are speculating over the possibility that the year 1916 will be summerless. The year 1816, the year after the disastrous end of the Napoleonic wars, had scarcely enough summer to be worth mentioning and the theory seems to be that the terrific bombardments on European battlefields are bound to have a similar effect upon weather conditions next year.

June of 1816, we are told, was a month of frost and ice. Now England, Ohio and Pennsylvania were covered with snow. June 17 there was a great snowstorm and flocks of sheep were overwhelmed and suffocated. The ice was an inch thick on the Fourth of July and August 20th witnessed a heavy fall of snow. Not until September were normal climate conditions restored.

The notion is that history will repeat itself after the passage of a century and the alarming thought in this connection is that, if the amount of explosives used in Napoleonic wars caused all the derangement of meteorological conditions, the amount used in the present war is likely to keep the temperature at 40 below zero, at least, all next summer. It surely is time for universal disarmament. — Ohio State Journal.

WILL SEND VIGOROUS MESSAGE TO ENGLISH.

It was announced by the State Department yesterday that this government has undertaken to "bring to a head" the grievance of thousands of American importers whose goods in neutral ports of Europe are withheld from shipment here by the British order in council.

The statement by Ambassador Page that Great Britain holds that concessions to the importers are involved in the order in council, forces State Department officials to the position that in order to get these concessions they must attack the order in council itself which established the illegal blockade. These officials say that for this reason it may be necessary to precipitate a diplomatic clash with Great Britain in advance of the transmission of the new note the language and arguments of which are still being digested by various authorities in the State Department.

The root of the matter is the legality of the blockade of neutral ports. This is the question involved not only in this vexatious matter of the importers, but in the case of the packers, which, however, may have to be taken up separately.

From what can be learned, Ambassador Page has been instructed to get a definite answer from Great Britain, not only as to what she proposes to do with goods now ready for shipment from neutral ports to the United States, but as to her defense of her blockade as affecting Dutch and Scandinavian ports.

It is not thought by officials that Great Britain will recede from her announced policy of justifying the blockade on the ground of military retaliation. The effort, however, is to be made to get satisfaction and this question will occupy the attention of the State Department as most important for the next 10 days. The position of this government is that retaliatory measures, whether taken by Germany or by Great Britain, are essentially wrong. Whether the State Department will pursue the issue to the extent to which it was carried with Germany, remains to be seen.

Through their local representative, the Chicago packers notified the State Department they would not go to Washington until the arrival of the text of the prize court decision, which confiscated $15,000,000 worth of their cargoes. This is expected by the latter part of the week.

Great Britain is certainly in no position just at present to tend the United States. American cargo on shipments to Britain now would run them from a military point of view.

The Old Standard Groves' Tonic is a General Tonic for all the well-known ailments of the blood. It builds up the blood and builds up the whole system. 50 cents.

Current reports from Austrian and German headquarters and dispatches from the Balkan capitals show that the long expected Pan-Tonic campaign against Serbia has begun. This activity is undoubtedly only to throw other forces across the river and save the bridge head whence the new steam roller can be started. Just where the attempt to cross will be is unknown. The shortest route to Bulgaria leads to the northeast corners of Serbia where nearly 50 miles of Serbian territory intervenes between the Bulgarian and Hungarian boundaries. The difficulty of the mountain country, the absence of railroads and the proximity of the Russian frontier, however, speaks in favor of the old route of the Danube broad and fertile Morava valley. Through this valley run roads and a railroad line to Bulgaria and Parley. Germany is anxious to recapture the Turks so they can hold the Dardanelles. At present there is no sign of peace among the warring nations in the old countries. Many battles are being fought each day and yet there are many great battles to be fought before the termination of hostilities.

"Where They Fit You Right."

PROPER FEEDING WILL PREVENT HOG CHOLERA.

K. Wright, of the veterinary and experimental station of the state college, has issued the following circular letter to the hog raisers of the State. Its advice is both timely and profitable. It has been observed that an increase in the number of outbreaks of hog cholera occurred during the latter part of August or the first part of September and the outbreaks increase in intensity and virulence until the first of October or November when the disease gradually subsides. Prediction that this will be no exception. The increase in the number of outbreaks and increase in virulence of the disease is probably due not to the season as to the fact that the disease is spread by the shipment of hogs for breeding purposes, and most of the hogs are turned into pens to receive a one-sided feed of new corn.

The occurrence of cholera is not solely upon the hogs but is also upon the swine. The micro-organisms. Proper feeding is susceptible to the disease when fed on a one-sided feed of new corn. When improperly fed, the hogs are inclined to become infected with the disease on exposure to the disease. At this time, the disease is beginning to be fed on a one-sided feed of new corn. The disease will result, thus the virulence of the disease is exposed to cholera infection. New corn is fed sparingly at first and gradually increased. The disease will start by feeding it exclusively on new corn.

In an outbreak of cholera, immediately isolate and separate the sick hogs. Notify the neighbors so that they may keep their hogs from your hog lots and prevent the spread of the infection. Do not handle all healthy hogs with the sick hogs and do not handle the sick hogs. No treatment is known upon to save one hog. Thoroughly clean the hog yards. Burn the refuse from the hog lots to afford an opportunity to destroy the infection. Disinfect the hog lots with the use of the hog houses and all the refuse for feeding. Scatter ter line about the hog houses and feed lots. Sanitation is the greatest factor in controlling and preventing cholera, and it practiced by all hog raisers will do much to prevent the ravages of cholera during the fall months.

"Special bulletins on the control of cholera will be sent to all members of the anti-hog cholera club in the State from time to time. The control of hog cholera in every community rests entirely upon the farmers. A friendly co-operation in employing sanitary measures is essential."

The following cases have been disposed of in police court since last report, all of which were charges of breach of the peace, and times of so assessed: Clifford Holland, Foster King, L. Frost, Fred Ward, Edwin Hagle.

SANITATION IMPORTANT IN DAIRY BARN

Texas Fever Ticks Would Be Out of Place in Such a Barn as This.

(By C. A. HUNTER, Oklahoma Experiment Station.)

There are few people who do not use in their dairy products. Most people use different kinds of dairy products—butter, cheese, cream or milk, with every meal.

An general rule the dairy cow supplies us not only with a large proportion of the more essential articles of our daily diet, but also with many a delicacy for the table. When we stop to think of it, we remember that all these dairy foods and delicacies come first from the dairy cow, in the form of milk.

Nothing perhaps is cleaner or more pure and wholesome than milk from the healthy dairy cow, if it is properly handled and cared for. On the other hand, there is, perhaps, nothing in the line of foodstuffs that is dirtier, more impure or unwholesome than milk from a filthy cow which is milked in a dirty, dusty stable into a dirty milk pail by dirty hands of a milker who wears dirty clothing. It is quite an evident fact that clean butter, cream and cheese cannot be obtained from dirty milk. The point is this: Mr. Milkman, the better class of consumers want clean foodstuffs and are willing to pay a good margin above the average market price for dairy products which are absolutely pure and clean, and guaranteed to be so.

Dairymen, take a little more time and care in cleaning your stables and cows. Require your milkers to wear clean clothing, wash the cow's udders and such other parts that may nest it, and wash their own hands before starting to milk. Use buckets with small tops, or partially covered tops, and see to it that dirt of any kind doesn't get into the pails.

Then let your customers know that your methods are sanitary, and see if they will not bear me out in that they are willing to pay for better quality.

MAKE PROFIT IN COCKERELS

Most Profitable Way to "Swat the Rooster" is to Caponize Young Males—Operation is Simple.

The test and most profitable way to "swat the rooster" is to caponize the young cockerels.

Most people look upon caponizing as a difficult operation, but with a little practice it can be successfully performed by anyone. Full instructions are generally sent with sets of caponizing instruments. However, anyone interested in the subject can get complete information from Bulletin 452, "Caponizing and Caponizing," of the United States department of agriculture.

The capon is quiet and easy to handle and shows no disposition to fight. The flesh is of high quality if the

SOW'S OVERSUPPLY OF MILK

Care Should Be Taken Before Farrowing Time to Give Feed That Will Not Stimulate Milk.

Sows are like cows; some of them are heavy milkers, while others are light. Heavy feeding produces too much milk on one sow and just right on another, therefore we have to treat the sows according to their character as milkers.

A sow which produces too much milk for her pigs should be fed lightly for ten days before farrowing time and fed on feed that would not be milk-producing, so that the pigs will be able to take care of all of it. When they become a little older, one can begin to feed her heavy on milk-producing feed.

The pigs will then show their good breeding in their growth and the pigs in their turn will be apt to raise big litters of choice individuals. Care should be taken therefore to feed her before farrowing that character of feed that will not stimulate the milk production, and she should be closely watched after farrowing to see that the milk is cleaned out by the pigs.

If she is a quiet sow and the pigs failed to absorb all the milk, that left might be taken from her either by putting some larger pigs to suckle her or taking it by hand. But if she is not fed stimulating milk feed for ten days before farrowing it is not likely there will be any trouble.

LAYING TWO EGGS PER DAY

Very Unusual Occurrence, But It Does Happen, Says Connecticut Experiment Station.

While it is generally accepted that hens will occasionally lay two eggs a day, the occurrence is very unusual. That it does happen is indicated by the following statement from the egg-laying contest at Storrs, Connecticut.

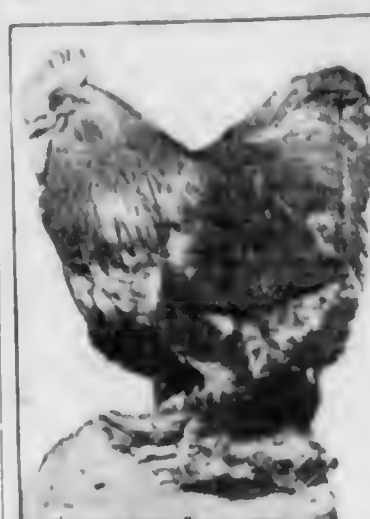

"Two eggs a week is a better performance than the average hen makes at this season of the year, but two eggs in one day is the record of a White Leghorn pullet. The laying contest does not expect to establish very many layers of this sort, nor does it anticipate that the few birds who do this extraordinary feat will be able to repeat it very often. As a matter of fact, the records of the first contest held at Storrs show that only four hens laid two eggs in any one day during the entire year, or, in other words, this thing happened once for about each 19,000 eggs that were gathered."

Turpentine for Worms.

An old-time breeder writes to a hog paper that whenever there are intestinal worms suspected in the pigs by their cough or their skins are dry, hard and scurvy and often the worms are found in their droppings, he mixes turpentine in the slop ration, at the rate of one teaspoonful to each 100 pounds of live weight, and finds it an effective remedy. This is simple and cheap and certain.

Feeding Buttermilk.

In feeding buttermilk it is well to put a tablespoonful of baking soda to each pintful of buttermilk. This puts it in the right shape for whetting the appetites of the pigs, and gives them good growth.

Partridge Cockerel.

capon is properly fed. With the same care and attention the capon will be worth from 50 to 100 per cent more than the uncaponized cockerel and there will not be the necessity of keeping them apart from the hens to get inferior eggs.

The best cockerels to caponize are those of the meat breeds, such as the Barred Rocks, Wyandottes, Cochins, Brahmas and Langshans. They should be caponized when they weigh from one and a half to two pounds and should be fed until they weigh eight to twelve pounds.

Protect Stock From Flies. Hellet from attacks by flies may be brought to live stock on the farm by the use of sprays. The following spray is suggested by F. L. Washburn, entomologist of the Minnesota college of agriculture.

Three parts of fish oil and one part kerosene. The spraying is best done with a knapsack sprayer, and it takes only two or three minutes to spray a steer or horse. The spray appears to keep off all flies for two days.

Pruning Don'ts. Don't prune with an ax. Don't cut off the lower limbs. Don't cut off the short spurs. Don't leave stubs. Don't use dull tools.

Honey Record. The highest record among the states of the Union in honey production is made by California. There is no reason, experts say, why every state should not produce more honey.

NEW COUNCIL TICKET.

In a very short time now the election of city councilmen will be held. This is an important event in the existence of every city, town and village. The men we elect on November the second, will, for two years to come, make our local laws, spend your money and manage the city in its every affair. These men, with proper assistance and support, can put Hickman on a high plane socially, morally and financially; just as it is within their power to let it, and us, "drag along" in some way without leaving a single monument in commemoration of their term of office.

It is our understanding and belief that few, if any of the present council will care to serve again in this capacity. They are all able, efficient men and have done much to aid and assist this city in all the improvements it has undergone within the past two years. It is not a question of getting better men than they, but one of obtaining suitable material to continue their good work and to carry it out to its fruition. What the city of Hickman needs is a continuation of the business administration already begun. She needs, in our belief, economy of management and thorough department checks and balances. We need able and competent executives who see their duty to their neighbors and their fellow taxpayers, and have the fearlessness to express their views. We respectfully submit to the citizens of this city the following list, who we sincerely believe are capable, efficient men who, were they to permit their names to go upon this November ballot, as councilmen, would give this city an administration of which we would become justly proud. Should they refuse this office they might, but still all we now think them to be, but would certainly lack an interest in our public welfare which we are now certain they possess.

These names are merely a suggestion for your closest consideration, and it is not only for the purpose of endeavoring to place the management of our city's affairs in the hands of men who will foster those things that can place Hickman in line with civic progress and advancement of the age.

CRYSTAL TOMORROW.
A GREAT RY. WRECK.

Everything we would say about the story of the juggernaut is so pale and poor and thin compared to the tremendous climax of this, the Colossus of railway dramas—that we shall give only an outline of the plot.

Two young men—one the brilliant son of poor parents—the other the dissolute heir of a great railway king, become friends at College.

One thinks he has accidentally killed a drunken rowdy in saving the other's life—they two only know this secret.

Both fall in love with the same girl who marries the rich boy only after his claim has withdrawn from the race because of his poverty.

Years later one becomes president of his father's old railroad—the other a righteous, fearless district attorney. Both again worship the same girl—daughter of the old sweetheart of both—one with a father's deep affection, the other because she is her mother's counterpart.

The district attorney bitterly attacks the railroad in the courts. His former claim threatens to expose him as a murderer.

And now—imagine the girl on a train approaching a bridge which cannot possibly stand its weight. Both men know this. Both are rushing madly by automobile and motor boat to intercept it.

You see all this. See the girl's sweet face at the window of the flying train—feel the swaying of the automobile as it skids desperately around sharp turns—and the bounding of the motor boat slashing through rough waters.

Both men and the train come crashing into the picture at the same instant—too late!

For a moment that seems an eternity, you feel yourself sitting almost under the tottering trestle as the enormous engine—a mass of whirling steel—leaps thundering and quivering into the empty air and falls shrieking to the swirling river.

The big coaches crumple like cardboard before your eyes and pile themselves up on the wreckage—passengers floundering and struggling in the debris.

Again you see the girl—again her father—

Again—THE MAN—

The car of juggernaut rolls on. But who are the victims?

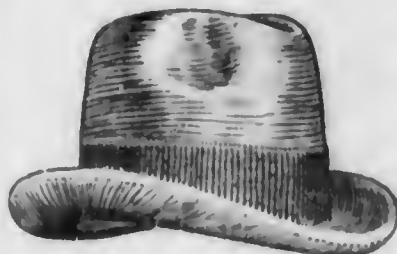

Come and see this tremendous spectacle.

That it was Vitagraphed by Ralph W. Ince, under the personal supervision of Albert E. Smith and J. Stuart Blackton, tells the story of its quality as a Feature Film.

THE FARMER AND THE HOTEL.

A prosperous farmer was in the city and learning that a leading hotel was a liberal purchaser of his products he determined to practice reciprocity by buying his dinner at the popular and prosperous hotel. Putting a bright new half dollar in his right hand pocket he took a seat in the gorgeously decorated dining room and told the full-dress waiter to bring him a good dinner, roast turkey, potatoes, baked beans, apple sauce, pie and tea. Upon leaving the table he handed his half dollar to the attentive waiter, who received it with a polite and profound bow as he put before the farmer a little check which read: "Baked apples, 25 cents; roast turkey, $1; potatoes, 20 cents; baked beans, 40 cents; pie, 15 cents; tea, 25 cents; total $2.00. The farmer perspired, paid the bill and passed out into the street in a reflective mood.

Motioning the head clerk to one side he said: "I have just had dinner with you. It cost me $2, but I enjoyed it, and have learned a lesson. If you will cash this check for $6, which I got for a ton of potatoes delivered at our depot yesterday, I will stay to supper. I have looked over your price list and have been thinking I worked three years cultivating corn, cutting hay in the sun and getting up winter mornings at 6 o'clock to feed the same to a steer sold your butcher for seven cents a pound dressed. Now you quote it, roasted, 60 cents a half pound portion, steak at 70 cents to $1, and even hash at 50 cents, or a general average of over $1 per pound, after treating it fewer hours in your kitchen than I spent on my farm tending it for market. Pork and mutton show about the same contrast of figures. That turkey which my wife spent six months fattening and sold for 12 cents a pound you sell me a slice of at $1 a slice, with a single potato at 15 cents, purchased in Michigan at 25 cents a bushel, while the beans I got round shouldered raising and sold for 70 cents a bushel, bring 70 cents a soup dish full in your dining room. The robustness of your profits excites my envy. I have concluded that I got started wrong in life when my father put me on the farm. I want to do better by my boys and have a favor to ask of you. I have intended to send them to the university, but have changed my mind. The first opening you have here let me know and I will send them to learn the hotel business."

THE DRY GOODS MAN

A CLEAN KNOCKOUT FOR FRANK HARDY.

Is Back At His Old Job Again. Feels Stronger In Spite of Recent Experience.

ASK HIM HE'LL TELL YOU.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 23, 1915.

One of the most astounding results Tanlae has ever accomplished, even in its remarkable record, is that to which Frank Hardy, the well known employee of the Clark Foundry Co., testifies to-day. Mr. Hardy, who resides at 114 eleventh street, Cairo, and has lived in the city for some time, enjoys a reputation for strict integrity which makes his statement very convincing. Here is what he says:

For fifteen years I have had severe kidney and bladder trouble. No one knew what I went through. I was utterly incapacitated for work—down in bed in fact. Nothing which held out even the slightest hope of relieving me was neglected. I tried all sorts of treatments. I even had an X-ray taken of my kidneys but was told that nothing could be done for me, my case was pronounced incurable.

Finally my father heard of Tanlae and the good it was doing and telephoned to Hickell's drug store for a bottle. That was the best day's work he ever did in his life. I've only taken that one bottle but it has put me on my feet again. I'm a stronger man than I've been for years. My appetite is good, the kidney and bladder trouble seems to have gone and I gain strength rapidly so much so, in fact, that I have reported for work again at the foundry and have my old job back. I tell you its great to be well again and I feel that I owe so much to this great remedy that I want all my friends to know it. Now this is all facts."

Never in the history of Cairo has there been anything that has caused so much interest as the sale of this new remedy, Tanlae. People that never thought of buying a proprietary medicine are calling each day at Hickman Drug Co. and taking Tanlae home with them. You can hear people everywhere talking about it—on the streets, in the street cars—

Tanlae is getting to be a by word. The sale of Tanlae in Hickman Drug Co. has broken all records, under the personal direction of J. L. Cooper's assistants; each week it increases until it is becoming a difficult problem to keep it in stock. Mr. Cooper's assistants are daily meeting great crowds of people who want to learn more about the merits of the master medicine, Tanlae.

Mr. Whittemore, N. C. & St. L. traveling freight agent informs the rate on coal into Hickman from Tennessee points, is to be only $1.25 per ton on his lines, as stated in last week's Courier. This road could have, had they chosen to do so, raised the rate from $1.20 to $1.50 per ton, as the Commerce Commission held this rate was not exorbitant.

NEWTON-SMITH.

Chas. A. Newton, of East Hickman, and Miss Nora Smith, of West Hickman, were united in marriage Monday night at the home of and by Rev. J. B. Housley.

Charlie is a son of Jns. Newton, the well known East Hickman merchant, and the bride is a daughter of Joe Smith. Both the contracting parties are popular in the social circles in which they move.

Congratulations.

FLIES AMONG CATTLE.

Many farmers residing in the bottoms below Hickman are being forced to bring their mules and horses out from that section to the highlands on account of swarms of small flies that are annoying them. The stock throughout this section are also being bothered by these pest, known as baldheaded flies, and annoy the stock until they are almost distracted. They seem to be in greater swarms than seen here before for years. In the bottoms there are also swarms and swarms of the wooly-looking small flies, called "woolies" by the people of that section, that hover over ponds and lakes.

BEECH GROVE NEWS.

Rev. H. S. Morgan has returned to Murray after a two weeks visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. P. Hiles. Clarence Perry, of Dresden, visited Auburn May last week.

Mattie Gammons has returned to Newbern after a visit to W. D. Stafford. J. W. Smith made a business trip to Lake county last week. Bob Watson was in Murkum one day last week—H. D. Cole and daughter, Mattie May, visited Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Osburn, of Tiptonville, last week.

Hugh R. Wynne, one of the big cotton factors of Memphis, was the guest of S. L. Dadds Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. C. H. Moore expects to leave Sunday for Nashville to attend the fair.

SUN BROS. PROMISE BIGGER AND BETTER SHOW.

Not content with giving the American public one of the best all round performances each season, the Sun Brothers' Shows have recently added to their already fine show, a complete trained wild animal tourney. This comprises a score of amazing dumb actors of all kinds, including elephants, lions, tigers, kangaroos, baboons, leopards, camels, dromedaries, sea lions, etc. No woman, man, or child can afford to miss this wonderful display of animals subjugation. These animals are wonderfully trained and the power of kindness was never more surely or splendidly illustrated.

The Sun Brothers' Shows will exhibit at Hickman, Oct. 7, giving two complete performances, afternoon and night. The much advertised free exhibitions will be offered for review on the show grounds at 12:30 p. m.

John W. Jenkins, an employee of the Menel Box Co. and a deserving young man of West Hickman, has been licensed to preach. He will fill the pulpit at the West Hickman Baptist church next Sunday night. Monday he will leave for the seminary to pursue his studies.

RAISES COLORED COTTON.

Results remarkable seem about to be achieved by A. W. Ibrahim, of Dar, S. C., who has succeeded in producing cotton which ranged in color from snow white to deep olive green. The planter asserts possibly that black cotton, sought for ages by spinners and manufacturers, is about to become a reality.

That the statements of Ibrahim is no idle dream is borne out in concrete fashion by the receipt in Savannah of samples of his colored cottons. The exhibit has been framed and hung on the wall of the Cotton Exchange, where it has occasioned general interest and comment.

The seed used by Ibrahim in his experiments were those of Egyptian staple. He has practiced seed selection extensively, and in four years has secured in regular order from the Egyptian seed a cream, tan, yellow, green, light brown, olive green and bronze. He is sanguine that attainments thus far achieved warrant the assertion that black cotton is coming in the near future.

The samples sent to Savannah by Ibrahim cannot by any stretch of the imagination be confused with tinges in cotton which might be the result of exposure or weather conditions. Neither is there any suspicion that dyes have been used to produce the colors.

The Social Embroidery Club met with Mrs. Jno. Adams Monday afternoon. Sherbert and cake were served. Those present were: Mesdames Earle Edmonds, W. E. Caldwell, Ed Adams, Bruce Powell, Will Hammond, Ernest Creason, Jno. Pyle, W. F. Edmonds, W. N. Phelps, W. H. Caldwell, Jim Laird, B. W. Posey, Miss Myrtle Flippin. Visitor, Mrs. Ella McEacham, of Ripley. Will meet with Mrs. W. H. Caldwell next Monday.

INTERESTING REVIVAL.

The revival at the West Hickman church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Housley, is drawing good crowds and much good is being accomplished. Several conversions have resulted and the ordinance of baptism will be administered next Sunday. The meeting will probably continue during the remainder of the week. Service at night only.

GUNS AND LIQUOR.

The terrible tragedy which occurred at Hickman last week by which three were killed ought to make the legislature of Kentucky conscious of the fact that the law in this state affecting carrying concealed weapons and the illicit sale of whiskey needs strengthening.

We confess with shame that the law on these two matters is woefully weak, and in most communities is little enforced. There has been some effort recently to make more rigid the law regulating the carrying of concealed weapons, but the law against the "bootlegger" is still inexcusably weak.

Let the next legislature enact a law making the carrying of concealed deadly weapons, and the illicit sale of whiskey in the first instance a felony and provide those convicted thereon shall work during the period of their conviction on the public roads. Such a law would, if enforced, protect the community, and bring about a better condition of public roads. We have now, in mind, several communities afflicted with chronic boot-loggers, and who divide their time about equally out of jail, selling whiskey, and in the jail serving time in payment for fines. The county or state pays 75 cents for each day the boot logger is confined. We think it would help reduce the crime and the cost of keeping up our roads to have them spend their time at work on the high ways.—Mayfield Maxim.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks. I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

Write for Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and get your bottle. "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper. 10c.

DAD AND SIS.

By Dad we mean all the daddies.

By Sis we mean all the girls. Dad and Sis ought to be friends—not merely father and daughter—but elums.

Dad is a good fellow. Of all the lovers that Sis has none love her better than Dad.

Down in the bottom of Dad's heart there is a picture of the girl he courted when he was a young man. That picture is of Mother, and Sis probably looks a good deal like Mother used to look, so Dad can't help but love Sis.

Dad is a fellow who brings home the bacon. Dad is the man who prays and hopes for good luck and health to the end, so that he can take care of Mother and Sis.

Down in the bottom of Sister's heart there is a picture of her ideal husband—and very often he looks and acts like Dad.

So Sis ought to get acquainted with Dad.

Dad and Sis ought to clasp hands and face the world together.

Dad knows many things that Sis ought to know, especially about young men.

Sis can make many of Dad's hard days easier by being his elum.

If a boy's best friend is his mother, a girl's best friend is her father.

GEORGE SEAY KILLED.

Injuries from a runaway accident caused the death on Tuesday night, Sept. 14, of Geo. Seay.

Last Friday while driving down the Hoskins hill, near Friendship, the buggy struck the wheel of a passing wagon. The horse became frightened and Mr. Seay tried to jump from the buggy. His leg was caught in the wheel and badly torn and twisted, besides being broken at the knee. He was carried into the home of Garland Hoskins where medical aid was summoned at once. Sunday gangrene developed, and in spite of the heroic efforts made to save him, he died two days later. Dr. Grundy Seay, of Germantown, Tenn., came Sunday and remained with his brother.

Mr. Seay was a bachelor and lived with his sister, Miss Annie Seay. Other members of the family who survive him are Mrs. Chert Hodges, Mrs. Belle Gossum and Morrison Seay, of Fulton, Jim Seay, of Hickman.

The funeral was held at Mt. Zion at two o'clock Wednesday. Clinton Gazette.

NEARLY HALF A MILLION AMERICAN HORSES IN WAR.

Twelve 425,000 horses and mules have been shipped out of the United States for the European belligerents and their purchase has been a big boom in the market for medium class horses. Department of Agriculture officials said recently. Government experts have been watching the records closely and they find that very few high bred horses have been exported with the result that prices for ordinary equines have increased. Most of the horses have gone to England, but many shipments have been made to France and some to Italy. The supply is not being seriously depleted, government officials estimating that there are today approximately 21,000,000 horses and 1,000,000 mules in this country.

KEEPS THE FLIES OFF.

Lloyd Brown tells us that a good remedy to keep the flies off stock is a mixture, half and half of coal oil and fried meat grease or lard, rubbed on the stock with a rag. This should be applied to the legs and neck of the animal. He assures us that it is not injurious.

Flies were never worse. As this remedy is cheap and easy to use, it should be given a trial.

NOTICE OF CITY ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of the City of Hickman, Ky., that an election will be held in the said city on Tuesday, Nov. 2, 1915, same being regular election day for said city, for the purpose of determining the desire of the voters upon the following issue.

"Are you in favor of the City of Hickman issuing bonds a mounting to the sum of $7,500, due in ten (10) years from date and bearing interest from date at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, it being necessary to raise annually by a special tax levy the sum of $1,200 for interest and a sinking fund to retire said bonds at their maturity at a rate of 12 per hundred dollars upon all taxable property in said city, for the purpose of purchasing a Motor Chemical and Pumping Engine, ladders, hose and other fire protection apparatus?"

Mothers will be working around the house wearing a greasy wrapper that looks like something the cat brought in, and her hair will be stringy and her face dirty. And then the door bell will ring and an agent who is selling a perfectly useless 5-cent dingus for 25 cents will tip his hat when mother opens the door and the agent will smile and say: "Young lady, could I speak to your mother for a moment, please?" And her mother will get so swelled up over her youthful appearance that she will purchase six of the dinguses and thank the agent for calling. Flattery is great lady stuff.

County School Notes

By Miss Virginia Laten
County Supt.

A supply of books to be used in the moonlight schools has just been received from the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission. Teachers and others organizing moonlight schools will please call at the office for the books needed. These books are to be supplied free of cost to those who enroll in these schools.

The County Board of Education has ruled that after July 1, 1916, no teachers will be employed in the rural schools unless they hold first class or State certificates.

In addition to the three acres of land purchased for the new Consolidated School, this district has been given a five year lease on a beautiful shady plot of ground adjoining. The term opened with a large enrollment and every thing seems favorable for an excellent year's work.

The box supper at Stuldas was quite enjoyable and a nice little sum of money raised for the benefit of the school.

The high schools of the county reported the following enrollment for the present term: Fulton 138, Hickman 53, Crutchefield 12, Sylvan Shade 8, Jordan 4.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK.

Stop Using Dangerous Drugs Before It Salivates You! It's Horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. Adv.

With all our progress we have never been able to discover a better way of cooling coffee than the old fashioned method of pouring it in the saucer.

Swelling of the flesh caused by inflammation cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuralgia or rheumatism can be relieved by applying BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. SPEAKING OF REVOLVERS.

A revolver is a nickel-plated substitute for bravery, which has practically driven the original article out of the market.

The revolver gives the puny man with a 5 8 inch beam and the pluck of a grasshopper a 100 yard dash and makes him more deadly than a Sioux Indian. There was a time when this country had no dangerous animals, except bears and wolves, and life was safe, except on the frontiers, but now vast herds of 16 year old boys who use their skulls for a dime novel book case, roam the streets with cigarettes in their face and portable cannon in their hip pockets, producing obituaries with the skill and enthusiasm of a chelera microbe, while it is at all times possible to meet a personal enemy who has been chasing you for a week, and who is reluctantly compelled to defend himself when he catches you by filling you so full of lead that your remains will require eight pull heaters. Revolvers are now so generally used in debates, in domestic quarrels and repartee of all sorts that 8,000 Americans die of them each year, it is said.

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do any work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do." Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from these distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

NEW DEMONSTRATION FARM AT MARTIN.

In addition to the five demonstration farms now operated by the N. C. & St. L. Ry., arrangements have just been made for a new demonstration farm at Martin, Tenn., which will be in cultivation next year. At present the company operates demonstration and experiment farms at Decherd, Sewanee, Murfreesboro, Tullahoma and Dickson, the combined acreage under cultivation being 375 and with the farm at Martin the acreage will be increased to 425 next year.

That the work being done by the road in demonstrating the possibilities of the soils in the several localities is having a decided stimulus to farm endeavors in these sections is apparent. Another advantage which has been noted particularly at Tullahoma and Dickson, is that the cultivation of these farms by the road has caused property value in these sections to increase every materially.

The farmers have been shown what the soil will do under the proper tillage, and many of the farmers about the demonstration farms of the company are following the methods employed to advantage. The work being carried on at these farms is of such character that the small farmer may follow without a heavy outlay.

FRED TAYLOR ARRESTED.

Fred Taylor was arrested at Uhlstadt Tuesday night by Sheriff J. H. King and is now in jail awaiting the October term of circuit court, charged with drowning his sister, Pearl Taylor, some three weeks ago in Buffalo Centre.

Taylor, who is a boy of 17, and not altogether bright, has told many conflicting stories in regard to his sister's death. He now says that he and Pearl were playing in the water when she started from him slipped and fell and he tried to get her out but could not and this frightened him and he ran away and left her. At the coroner's inquest, however, when accidental drowning was agreed upon by the jury, Taylor then stated that he knew nothing of her death.—Charleston (Mo.) Republican.

The frequent mention of the submarine torpedo makes this fact of interest. The torpedoes used in the British navy are of three diameters: 14 inch, 18 inch and 21 inch, and they vary in length from 16 to 18 feet. As soon as a torpedo hits its mark it explodes automatically. Every torpedo fired in action represents an expenditure of from $3,000 to $10,000. Often the submarine misses its target and when this is the case its cost is wasted.

"FEMININE YOUTH" CAUGHT BY POLICE.

Charles Pickelheimer, aged 17, was arrested Wednesday evening at the Illinois Central passenger station, when officers discovered that "she or he," who was masquerading in feminine clothing was awaiting the arrival of an Illinois Central train to take "him" to Hickman, Ky.

It was said that he was going to Hickman to meet a friend, the two of them going on to the nearest recruiting station, where they intended to join the army. Pickelheimer claims that several of his enemies were seeking to prevent his leaving town, and that he adopted the feminine attire to outwit them. It succeeded in its real purpose, but also succeeded in causing Pickelheimer some little trouble.—Carm (C)zen.

At the present writing, says an exchange, we have no desire to hurl ourselves into Abraham's bosom, but if we ever do, we wouldn't lean against a double-barrel shot gun and pull the trigger, as many do. Neither would we chop our head off with an amateur guillotine, eat a square meal of rough on rats, blow out the gas, drink concentrated lye, sit down on the lap of a buzz-saw, smoke a cigarette, or call a Kentuckian a liar or a poor judge of whiskey. We could simply get out an edition of our paper in which we would strive to the very best of our ability to print the plain, square-toed truth about people, as we understand it, and then calmly await the end.

Recently several hundred pictures have been made and will be enlarged and in a short while these pictures will be placed in the waiting rooms of the several stations along the line of the N. C. & St. L. Ry., while these will improve the appearance of Hickman's waiting room—the depot will not be much credit to the pictures.

that, said his mother.

"What do you know about class?" he snipped, and I at once knew what class he was in at the preparatory school.

If I was ever like one of these, said I to myself, I'd rest the sage soul of my Uncle Elias!

The situation was no longer humorous. I could put up with anything but the mistaking of my devoted golf club.

Striding up to him, I snatched the remnants from his hands. "You infernal cut!" I roared. "Haven't you any more sense than to snash a golf club like that? For two cents I'd break this putter over your head."

"Father," he yelled indignantly, "who is this mucker?"

Mr. Rockworth leaped toward me. His cane raised. I whirled upon him. "How dare you?" he shouted. The ladies squealed.

If he expected me to cringe he was mightily mistaken. My blast was up. I advanced.

"Passe him, dad!" roared Harold.

But Mr. Rockworth suddenly altered his course and put the historic treaty table between him and me. He didn't like the appearance of my rather lawless fist.

"You did shift!" shouted Harold. Afterward it occurred to me that this inelegant appellation may have been meant for his father, but at the time I took it to be aimed at me.

Before Harold quite knew what was happening to him he was prancing down the long hall with my bony fingers grasping his collar. Coming to the door opening into the outer vestibule,

"How dare you?" he shouted.

bule, I drew back my foot for a final aid to locomotion. Acutely recalling the fact that slippers are not designed for kicking purposes, I raised my foot, removed the slipper and laid it upon a taut section of his trousers with all of the melancholy force that I usually exert in eliciting my drive off the tee. I shall never forget the exquisite spasm of pleasure his plaintive "Ouch!" gave me.

Then Harold passed swiftly out of my life.

Mr. Rockworth, re-enforced by four reluctant mercenaries in the shape of porters, was advancing upon me. Somehow I had a vague but unerring instinct that some one had failed, but I didn't stop to inquire. Without much ado I wrested the cane from him and sent it scuttling after Harold.

"Now get out!" I roared.

"You shall pay for this!" he sputtered, quite black in the face. "Grab him, you infernal cowards!"

But the four porters slunk away, and Mr. Rockworth faced me alone. His dog and Max, thoroughly fed and most prodigious, were bearing down upon us, accounting for the flight of the mercenaries.

"Get out!" I repeated. "I am the owner of this place, Mr. Rockworth, and I am mad through and through! Skip!"

They skipped.

CHAPTER IV.

I Converse With a Mystery.

LATE in the afternoon I opened my door, hoping that the hazing of hummers and the buzz of industry would have ceased; but, alas, the noise was even more deafening than before. Rapping lightly on the gloomy corridor, I shouted to him, and he came at once.

"Hritton," said I as he closed the door, "do you think they will carry out their threat to have the law on me? Mr. Rockworth was very angry—and put out. He is a power, as you know."

"I think you are quite safe, sir," said he. "Shortly before 2, sir, one of the porters from the hotel came over to recover a gold purse Mrs. Riley-Werkholmer had dropped in the excitement, and he informed Mr. Popen-dyke that the whole party was leaving at 4 for Dresden."

Later on, somewhat refreshed and relieved, I made my way to the little balcony, first having issued numerous orders and directions to the still stupefied Schmucka, chief among which was an inflexible command to keep the gates locked against all comers.

Suddenly as I sat there ruminating I became acutely aware of something white on the ledge of the topmost window in the eastern tower. Even as I fixed my gaze upon it something else transpired. A cloud of soft, wavy, luxuriant brown hair eclipsed the narrow white strip and hung with spreading splendor over the casement ledge plainly, indubitably to dry in the sun.

My neighbor had washed her hair! And it was really a most wonderful head of hair. I can't remember ever having seen anything like it except in the advertisements.

What a glorious, appealing, sensuous thing a crown of hair—but just then Mr. Popen-dyke came to my window.

"May I interrupt you for a moment, Mr. Stuart?" he inquired, as he squinted at me through his ugly bone rimmed glasses.

"Come here, Popen-dyke," I commanded in low, excited tones. He hesitated. "You won't fall off," I said sharply.

Although the window is at least nine feet high, Popen-dyke stooped as he came through. He always does it, no matter how tall the door. It is a life-long habit with him. Have I mentioned that my worthy secretary is six feet four and as thin as a reed? I remember speaking of his knees. He is also a bachelor.

"It is a dreadful distance down there," he murmured, dithering himself against the wall and closing his eyes.

A pair of slim white hands at that instant incidentally readjusted the thick mass of hair and quite as casually disappeared. I failed to hear Mr. Popen-dyke's remark.

"I think, sir," he proceeded, "it would be a very good idea to get some of our correspondence off our hands. A great deal of it has accumulated in the past few weeks. I wish to say that I am quite ready to attend to it when ever."

"Time enough for letters," said I, still staring.

"First of all, we must have a ladder." I went on. "Have you seen to that?"

"A ladder?" he faltered, putting one foot back through the window in a most suggestive way.

"Oh," said I, remembering, "I haven't told you, have I? Look! Up there, in that window. Do you see that?"

"What is it, sir? A rug?"

"Hug! Great Scott, man, don't you know a woman's hair when you see it?"

"I've never—or never known it—you might say—just like that. Is it hair?"

"It is. You do see it, don't you?"

"How did it get there?"

"Good! Now I know I'm not dreaming. Come! There's no time to be lost. We may be able to get up there before she leaves us."

I instructed old Conrad to have the tallest ladder brought to me in the courtyard at once.

"There is no such thing about the castle," he announced blandly.

"Where are your sons?" I demanded.

"The old couple held up their hands in great distress.

"Herr Hritton has them wearing their seals out, turning a whirling outside the gates—such, that terrible invention of his!" growled old Conrad. "My poor sons are faint with fatigue, mein herr. You should see them perspire and hear them pant for breath."

Happily a new idea struck me almost at once.

In a jiffy half a dozen carpenters were at work constructing a substantial ladder out of sawtimbers, while I stood over them in serene command of the situation.

When the ladder was completed I mounted to the top and peered through the sun-drenched window. It was quite black and repelling beyond. Instructing Hritton and the two brothers to follow me in turn, I clambered over the wide stone sill and lowered myself gingerly to the floor.

I will not take up the time or the space to relate my experiences on this first fruitless visit to the east wing of my abiding place. Suffice to say, we got as far as the top of the stairs in the vast middle corridor after stumbling through a series of dim, damp rooms, and then found our way effectively blocked by a stout door which was not only locked and bolted, but bore a most startling admonition to would-be trespassers.

Plunged to one of the panels there was a dainty bit of white note paper, with these satiric words written across its surface in a bold feminine hand:

"Please keep out. This is private property."

Most property owners nowadays would have been incensed by this calm defiance on the part of a squatter, either male or female, but not I. The very independence of the squatter appealed to me. What could be more delicious than her serene courage in disposing of me with the stroke of a pen of at least two-thirds of my domicile and what more excellent than the thought of waging war against her in the effort to obtain possession of it? Heavily it was quite glorious! There was a happy, enchanting bit of feudalism that stirred my romantic soul to its very depths.

We returned to the courtyard and held a council of war. I put all of the Schmucka on the grill, but they stubbornly disclaimed all interest in or knowledge of the extraordinary occupant of the east wing.

"We can smoke her out, sir," said Hritton.

I could scarcely believe my ears. "Hritton," said I severely, "you are a brute. I am surprised. You forget there is an innocent babe, maybe a collection of them, over there and a dog. We shan't do anything heathenish, Hritton. Please bear that in mind. There is but one way—we must storm the place. I will not be deluded to my very nose." I felt it in me it was not a little out of joint. "It is a good nose."

"It is, sir," said Hritton. And Popen-dyke in a perfect ecstasy of loyalty shouted, "Long live your nose, sir!"

My tierman, emissaries waved their hats, perceiving that a demonstration was required without in the least knowing what it was about.

That night was very black and tragic, as swift storm clouds having raised up to cover the moon and stars. With a radiant bathrobe in the window behind me, I sat down with my pen and my pipe and my pencil. The alarm was not far away.

I was scribbling away in serene content for the physical world when there came to my ears a sound that gave me a greater shock than any stroke of lightning could have produced and yet left sufficient life in me to appreciate the sensation of being electrified.

A woman's voice, speaking to me out of the darkness and from some point quite near at hand!

"I beg your pardon, but would you mind doing me a very slight favor?"

Those were the words, uttered in a clear, sweet, perfectly confident voice, of one who never asked for favors, but exacted them.

I looked about me, thinking, utterly bewildered. No one was to be seen. She laughed. Without really meaning to do so, I also laughed—nervously, of course.

"Can't you see me?" she asked. I looked intently at the spot from which the sound seemed to come—a perfectly solid stone block less than three feet from my right shoulder. It must have been very amusing. She laughed again. I flushed resentfully.

"Where are you?" I cried out rather tartly.

"I can see you quite plainly, and you are very ugly when you scowl, sir. Are you scowling at me?"

"I don't know," I replied truthfully, still searching for her. "Does it seem so to you?"

"Yes."

"Then I must be looking in the right direction," I cried impudently. "You must be—sir."

My straining eyes had located a small, oblong blotch in the curve of the tower not more than twenty feet from where I stood, and on a direct line with my balcony. True, I could not at first see its face, but as my eyes grew a little more accustomed to the darkness, I fancied I could distinguish a shadow that might pass for one.

"I didn't know that little window was there," I cried, puzzled.

"It isn't," she said. "It is a secret loophole, and it isn't here except in times of great distress. See, I can close it!" The oblong blotch abruptly disappeared, only to reappear an instant later. I was beginning to understand, of course it was in the beleaguered east wing! "I hope I didn't startle you a moment ago."

I resolved to be very stiff and formal about it. "May I inquire, madam, what you are doing in my home—my castle?"

"You may."

Well, said I, seeing the point, what are you doing here?"

"I am doing here," she answered dis-creetly.

"So I perceive," said I, rather too dis-creetly.

And I have come down to ask a couple of little favors of you, Mr. Stuart," she resumed.

"You know my name?" I cried, surprised.

"I am reading your last book—Are you going?"

Just a moment please," I called out, struck by a splendid idea. Reaching inside the window, I grasped the iron bar and brought its rays to bear upon the positively blank wall! I stared open mouthed and unbelieving. "Good heaven! Have I been dreaming all this?" I cried aloud.

My gaze fell upon two tiny holes in the wall, exposed to view by the bright light of my lamp. They appeared to be precisely in the center of the spot so recently marked by the oblique oblong.

Even as I stared at the holes a slim object that I at once recognized as a finger protruded from one of them and wiggled at me in a merry but exceedingly irritating manner.

Sensibly I restored the lantern to its place inside the window and waited for the mysterious voice to resume.

"Are you so homely as all that?" I demanded when the shadowy face looked out once more. Very clever of me, I thought.

"I am considered rather good looking," she replied scornfully. "Please don't do that again. It was very rude of you Mr. Stuart."

"Oh, I've seen something of you before this," I said. "You have long, beautiful brown hair and a dog."

She was silent.

"I am sure you will pardon me if I very politely ask who you are?" I went on.

"That question takes me back to the favor. Will you be so very, very kind as to cease bothering me, Mr. Stuart? It is dreadfully upsetting, don't you know, feeling that at any moment you may rush in and—"

"I like that. In my own castle too?" she said sharply. "I shan't be here for more than a month or six weeks, and I am sure we can get along very amably under the same roof for that length of time if you'll only forget that I am here."

"I can't very well do that, madam. You see, we are making extensive repairs about the place, and you are proving to be a serious obstacle. I cannot grant your request. It will grieve me enormously if I am compelled to smoke you out, but I fear—"

"Smoke me out!"

"Perhaps with sulphur," I went on resolutely. "It is said to be very effective."

"Surely you will not do anything so horrible."

"That is a last resort. First we shall storm the east wing. Failing in that, we shall rely on smoke. You will not out that our force is right to push on my preserves."

"None whatever," she said rather placidly.

I can't remember having heard a sweeter voice than hers. Of course by this time I was thoroughly convinced that she was a lady, a cultured, high bred lady, and an American.

That plaintive note in her voice served its purpose. My firmness seemed to dissolve even as I sought to re-enforce it by an injection of harshness into my own manner of speech.

"Then you should be willing to vacate my premises or or"—there is where I began to show irresolution—"or explain yourself."

"I cannot say I am very nervous. How well they know the cracks in a man's armor!"

"I am willing to be amenable to reason. That's all you ought to expect."

A fresh idea took root. "I am not effecting a compromise, a truce, or something of the sort. All I ask is that you explain your presence here. I will promise to be as generous as possible under the circumstances."

"Will you give me three days in which to think it over?" she asked, after a long pause.

"No."

"Well, two days?"

"I'll give you until tomorrow afternoon at 5, when I shall expect you to receive me in person."

"That is quite impossible."

"But I demand the right to go wherever I please in my own castle. You?"

"If you know just how circumspet I am obliged to be at present you wouldn't impose such terms, Mr. Stuart."

"Oh, circumspet! That puts a new light on the case. What have you been up to, madame?" I spoke very severely.

She very properly ignored the insult. "If I should write you a line,

"I demand the right to go wherever I please in my own castle."

unrestrained letter, explaining as much as I can, won't you be satisfied?"

"I prefer to have it by word of mouth."

She seemed to be considering. "I will come to this window tomorrow night at this time and—let you know," she said reluctantly.

"Very well," said I. "We'll let it rest till then."

"And, by the way, I have something more to ask of you. Is it quite necessary to have all this pounding and hammering going on in the castle? The noise is dreadful. I don't ask it on my own account but for the baby, Mr. Stuart. Perhaps you've heard her crying."

"The baby?" I muttered.

"It is nothing serious of course. The doctor was here today and he reassured me."

"A doctor here today?" I gasped. She laughed once more. Verily, it was a gentle, high bred laugh.

"Will you please put a stop to the noise for a day or two?" she asked very prettily.

Pistol and Revolver Cartridges That Are Dependable and Accurate

YOU selected your pistol or revolver because you expected it to give you results.

Now, results—whether in casual shooting—or in serious work at the target—depend more than you might think on the wise choice of ammunition. It is worth remembering that the biggest men in the Pistol and Revolver classes are shooting Remington-Union Metallic Cartridge Co. Cartridges—made by every standard make of pistol and revolver used anywhere in the world.

For the right ammunition from the sportsman's point of view, see the Remington-Union Metallic Cartridge Co. Dealer. He displays the Red Ball Mark of Remington-Union Metallic Cartridge Co.

"Fortunately," said I, too surprised to say anything else. "Is there anything else?"

"Nothing thank you," she replied. Then "Good night, Mr. Stuart. You are very good."

"Don't forget tomorrow!"

But the oblong opening disappeared with a sharp click and I found myself staring at the blank apartment wall.

A company of capitalists in London have formed an organization for the purpose of embarking in the oil business. The name of the new concern is the Reelfoot Lake Oil Co., and the incorporators are E. H. Sammes, W. D. Ward, Ed Williams and General Judge R. H. Platt. The stock named is $50,000.

The company starts with an authorized capitalization of $50,000, divided into 50,000 shares, par value 10 cents. It is proposed to sell the treasury stock, amounting to 20,000 shares, right away, every cent realized to be used for development purposes. The vendor stock has been placed in escrow, and cannot be sold until the treasury stock is sold, thus guaranteeing to the shareholders the proper development of the holdings.

They will proceed to drill immediately sufficient stock is sold to meet the expenses of drilling the first well.

The location of the company's valuable holdings is in the famous Reelfoot Lake district, including options on several hundred acres between Hickman and the lake.

Geologists and oil experts place around Reelfoot Lake the word "Petroleum."

We have secured approximately 6,000 acres in the famous Reelfoot district, and propose to start drilling No. 1 well as soon as a sufficient amount of stock has been sold to warrant same.

We solicit your investigation of our Company, and the prospects of finding oil in large quantities in this district.

No other proposition offers the large or small investor the possibility that Oil Stock offers.

A large Pennsylvania Company has leased 15,000 acres in this district, and is now drilling.

With large holdings and a small capitalization, if oil is found the shareholders are assured of an immense profit on their stock.

$80 to $100 AN ACRE MADE ON TOMATOES.

Among a number of interesting committee reports read at the Business League meeting Thursday evening was one on the truck business in this section by A. O. Caruthers, manager for the Hickman Fruit & Truck Growers' Association.

In the initial venture, both good and bad results have been recorded.

Cabbage proved to be a losing game. Had we but got on the market ten days earlier—and this could have been done had we started earlier—this product would have paid well. Only two car loads were shipped from Hickman.

Tomatoes made our growers some money; although it was a bad season in many respects. Two growers averaged slightly over $100 an acre on their patches; but the average was given as $80 an acre. Nine car loads were shipped. Some few will drop out of the association next year; on the other hand, many will increase their acreage. As one trucker put it, "the experience has been worth a whole lot, and we can and will do better next year. Several of us made more money out of truck this year than we expected."

The league will make another attempt to encourage strawberry growing here along with other crops. The first step will be to try to induce Mr. Wade, the "strawberry king" of Tennessee, to put out 100 acres here, just as he has done at Union City, Humboldt and several other towns.

BIDS WANTED FOR PLANK SIDEWALK.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Mayor until 7 o'clock p. m. Monday, October 4, 1915, for installing new plank sidewalks on Brooklyn, Market and Ashland streets in West Hickman, at such places where the owners of the abutting property have failed or refused to build such sidewalks as required by law. The above consists of about 1300 feet of walk, specifications as follows: A plank sidewalk three feet in width made of three plank 2x12 in. in width, laid side by side and securely nailed to cross timbers underneath; 4x4 inch by three feet long.

Attest: Jno. Pyle, City Clerk.
Tom Dillon, Sr., Mayor.

Prejudice against the automobile is gradually dying by force of circumstances. The benzine buggy has come to stay. We recall a few years ago when Dr. S. K. Davidson operated a so-called "steamer," operated it when he could. This was followed by a gasoline car, called a "Victor," and owned by Dr. J. M. Hubbard. Neither car could boast of much capacity, but for making noise and scaring horses, they have never been excelled. At that time, everything was against the auto; they were few, noisy, unsuccessful and the majority were driving horses. The crisis has passed. The car is now practical and horses, with few exceptions, do not scare. The auto driver is no longer in the minority—nor is he censured for being found on the public highways with his machine. On the contrary, the auto owner is the power behind the throne in the great popular road improvement. There is a marked difference between the condition of Fulton county's roads now and when Dr. Hubbard first drove the famous "Victor" all the way to Fulton and back. Better roads are coming, and the automobile is helping to accomplish what would never have been done without it.

Chief Noah and Mayor Reynolds made a hurry-up call to Baptistville Monday night, some of the colored denizens of that locality having spread broadcast the S. O. S. signal. Aubrey Mayfield, armed with a big sharp knife, had whittled upon the body of Enlist Reeves to his heart's content. Officers found Reeves nearly dead and also found that Mayfield had departed for parts unknown. But the Mayor "struck a trial" and found his man at Brevard's Crossing en route to Hickman. Mayfield was fined $100.—Union City Commercial.

Dr. G. C. Thomas, of Tiptonville, has purchased the Old Ridge by Gazette plant from B. F. Harrison; the consideration not being known.

Leonard A. Duke and Miss Alma Mai Shelton were married at Beclerton, Thursday.

It is fine for encouraging the school children and bringing the patrons and teachers together in a social way. Make your arrangements to attend.

The State Department of Education is sending out to teachers a bulletin advising them to acquire school libraries and giving a list and advice about the selection and installation of the libraries. Thanks to our county school superintendent, many of Fulton county's rural schools already have nice libraries, while the high schools have had splendid libraries for years.

It's surprising how few know what to do.

Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

Have convinced Hickman people of their merit.

Here's a Hickman case; Hickman testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

John N. Nelson, painter, Hickman, says: "I had kidney trouble and my bladder was affected. I suffered constantly from pains in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and since then I have had no need of a kidney medicine."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Nelson recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advt.)

Bath Phones 53 and 185

Gus Farmer, of Fulton, was the guest of Miss Leaven Brown Sunday.

Phil Campbell and Chas. Leaven of Tiptonville, were Hickman visitors Sunday.

If you get a blue mark on your Courier it means that your subscription has expired. Sure, pay up.

Rev. B. W. Hampton, of the Christian church, left first of the week to attend the convention at Madisonville, Ky.
